I hereby submit, for the consideration of the House Committee on Public Information, in my capacity as Chairman of the Technical Working Group of this Committee, a revised proposed consolidated version of the Freedom of Information Bill.

This substitutes the proposed consolidated version dated 21 February 2011 that I submitted to the committee early last year.

The revisions adopt the amendments proposed by President Benigno S. Aquino III, as embodied in the FOI Bill transmitted by Secretary Florencio B. Abad to this Committee on 2 February 2012, in his capacity as Secretariat for the Good Governance and Anti-Corruption Cluster chaired by the President.

I wish to emphasize that the said bill transmitted by the Executive to this Committee is not an entirely new one. It is based on the work of an Executive Study Group, which adopted as starting point for its amendments our proposed consolidated version of 21 February 2011.

The amendments that the President introduces mainly address the concerns he has raised, in particular the need to adequately protect national security matters as well as the integrity of his deliberative process. Also addressed is the concern by Executive officials that the penalties we imposed under the earlier proposed consolidation were unduly harsh. In addition, they introduced some amendments meant to improve the substance and procedure for public access to information.

I note that in the finalization of the Study Group's recommendations to the President, I have engaged them in dialogue. In formulating the positions that I conveyed to the Study Group on their proposed amendments, I have consulted representatives of the Right to Know. Right Now! Coalition, the broad campaign network that has long been advocating for the passage of the FOI Law.

I submit that the amendments proposed by the President address legitimate concerns that are Constitutionally lodged in the Executive Department, but in a manner that balanced these with the requisite respect to the people's right to information also guaranteed under the Constitution.

In addition to adopting the amendments proposed by Malacañang, I added a few more non-contentious improvements meant to make the bill more attuned to international standards.

We are presented, after long years of legislative work, the opportunity to finally bring to life this landmark measure that will empower our citizens, contribute to the advance of our democracy, and bring back the people's trust in government.

Let us now perform our duty.

(e) A government agency may communicate the information requested in a form other than the preferred means whenever such preferred means would unreasonably interfere with the effective operation of the agency, the agency has no capability in communicating the information in the preferred format or be detrimental to the preservation of the record.

The Office of the Ombudsman shall promulgate its special rules of procedure for the immediate disposition of complaints filed pursuant to this Section. Unless restrained or enjoined, the decisions of the Office of the Ombudsman shall be immediately executory, without prejudice to review in accordance with the Rules of Court.

(3) Instead of filing a complaint with the Office of the Ombudsman, whenever a request for information is denied originally or on administrative appeal, the requesting party may file a verified petition for mandamus in the proper court, alleging the facts with certainty and praying that judgment be rendered ordering the respondent, immediately or at some other time to be specified by the court, to disclose the information and to pay the damages sustained by the requesting party by reason of the denial. The procedure for such petition shall be summary in nature.

(4) In resolving a complaint or petition brought under the preceding paragraphs (2) and (3), the Ombudsman or the court is empowered to receive the information subject of a claim of exception under Section 6 herein and examine then in camera to determine the sufficiency of the factual and legal basis of such claim, when such sufficiency cannot be reasonably determined through evidence and circumstances apart from the information.
